Numb. 245.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 9, 1738.

VIENNA, Auguſt 6.

WHILST the Imperial Army encamped at Lugos, Colonel Picolomini, with the Garriſon of Meadia, which he commanded, arrived there. The Colonel delivered to Count Konigſegg a Letter from the Baſhaw of Widdin, to the following Purpoſe: That he had but juſt taken MEADIA; but that he was ſurpriz'd not to find the Imperial Army near that Place, in order to have defended it. Count Konigſegg, who perceived the Meanneſs of this Proceeding, at firſt reſolved not to anſwer this Letter; but afterwards determined to do it, and ſent to tell the Baſhaw: That he gloried in a very trifling Thing upon valuing himſelf in taking of MEADIA, becauſe it was but a Place of little Conſequence, quite open, and which, by it's Situation, was obliged to ſurrender as ſoon as it was attacked; but if he had foreſeen that the Smaskier of WIDDIN would have returned to MEADIA, he would have left ſome of his Cavalry to have received the Turks in the Manner they had been received before. The laſt News from Orſova ſay, that the Turks had, on the 23d, made an Attack upon Fort St. Elizabeth, but had been repulſed with the Loſs of 600 Men, who were drowned in the Danube. They write from Croatia, that the Turks having laid Siege to Sarinia, were repulſed, and obliged to raiſe the ſame, through the good Diſpoſitions of the Inhabitants of that Province. The Grand Duke of Tuſcany has repreſented to the Emperor, that if certain Priviledges, which are ſuppoſed to be Religious, were granted to the Hungarians, that Nation would raiſe 30,000 Men to act againſt the Turks. His Royal Highneſs thinks this Propoſition very advantageous, and not to be rejected, eſpecially as the Terms of Peace on the Side of the Turks are ſo exorbitant, they inſiſting upon nothing leſs than the Reſtitution of Belgrade, Temeſwar, and Orſova. According to all Appearance, the Affair of Count Seckendorff will in a ſhort Time be determined to his Advantage; and, in the mean Time, the Court has ſent Orders to Gratz to take off the Guard from that General, to give him the Permiſſion of wearing his Sword, and of walking all over the Caſtle, to receive Viſits from whomſoever he would, and to write Letters, &c.

Aug. 9. Our laſt Advices from the Bannat of Temeſwar are, that the Imperial Army reſum'd it's March the 31ſt of laſt Month, and arrived the next Day at Unip. We have a Confirmation that the Turks have turn'd the Siege of Orſova into a Blockade; and hear that the Grand Vizir is at Gladova, on the other Side of the Danube.

Hague, Aug. 11. We hear that the Wife of a Peaſant in the Diſtrict of Boiſleduc was brought to Bed of eight Children, ſeven Girls and one Boy, who were all living.

Dublin, Aug. 8. Yeſterday 250 Soldiers embark'd at George's Key for Port Mahon. Never did Men go more chearfully to ſerve their Country; and what is remarkable, there has not one deſerted, every Soldier vying with each other who ſhould be draughted for this Occaſion; and there is ſuch a Spirit of Courage diffus'd through all our Troops, that they wiſh for nothing more than to attack the Spaniards Face to Face, or any other Enemy who dare attempt to deprive us of our Liberties and Trade. And if his Majeſty had occaſion to levy Land-Forces, an Army of 100,000 fighting Men might ſoon be raiſed in this Kingdom, who would hazard their Lives in Defence of his Royal Perſon and Government.

LONDON, Aug. 19.

The Impreſs for Seamen at the Port of Briſtol is at an Ebb, and the Lively Man of War is preparing to ſail.

We hear that all the Men of War now in Commiſſion, are almoſt mann'd.

It's reported, that within theſe few Days Don Geraldino has made freſh Propoſals for an Accommodation. 'Tis no wonder the Spaniards are for patching up Matters at preſent, or againſt our immediate obtaining by Force that full and honourable Satisfaction which the Nation expects; for they want to get Home their Acapulco Ships and their Fleet from Buenos Ayres, both which are reckon'd richly laden.—As the Sentiments of the Nation on the preſent poſture of Affairs are very juſtly expreſs'd in the Craftſman of this Day, we ſhall give them our Readers in his Words.——

'The general Cry is War, Revenge on the SPANIARDS, Reſtitution for our PAST LOSSES, Satisfaction to our NATIONAL HONOUR, and above all, ample Security to 'our FUTURE TRADE and NAVIGATION.—— The Country Gentleman and Farmer who are diſtreſs'd with 'peaceable Taxes, pray for an honourable and glorious War. 'The Merchant, who is always the greateſt Sufferer upon 'ſuch Occaſions, is in the ſame Diſpoſition, and ready to 'ſacrifice his preſent Profit to the future Intereſt of his 'Country. The poor Tradeſman, Mechanick and Husbandman, who can hardly ſupply their Families with the Neceſſaries of Life, ſeem willing to part with their laſt 'Mite in that glorious Cauſe. Our Sailors, both Officers 'and private Men, are alert, and want nothing ſo much as 'an Opportunity of revenging themſelves on their cruel 'Enemies.——What can any Miniſter deſire more in his 'Favour.

The William and Anne, Jopſon, is arrived at Genoa from Hull, who in his Paſſage on the Coaſt of Spain, met with three arm'd Barks, with Spaniſh Colours, who fired three Guns at him in order to bring him too, the firſt with Powder, the ſecond and third with Balls, one hit his Main-Sail, and the other his Main-Maſt; but out ſailing them, got clear. The Captain went to Port Mahon, and acquainted Admiral Haddock thereof.

Yeſterday the Conſtables impreſs'd ſeveral Young Fellows, who were ſinging Ballads in the Liberty of Weſtminſter.

'Tis remarked by the Advices from Berlin, that the Town of Precop was taken by General Laſci on the very Day that Count Munich defeated the Turks on the other ſide of the Boog.

Aug. 24. We hear his Majeſty (whom God preſerve) has been indiſpoſed with a Cholick for ſome Days paſt, but the Pain having greatly abated he is at preſent much better.

This

This Day his Excellency Count de Cambis, Ambassador Extraordinary from the Court of France, gave a grand Entertainment at his House in Hanover-Square, to the Prime Ministers of State, Foreign Ministers, and other Persons of Distinction, it being the Birth Day of the Dauphin of France, who then enter'd into the 10th Year of his Age.

We hear that the Namure, of 90 Guns, the Barfleur of the same Rate, and six other large Ships, are order'd to be clean'd and got in Readiness; by which 'tis suppos'd they will soon be put into Commission.

HAIL, Castle, hail! Fill up the Bowl
With sprightly Juice, the Emblem of my Soul
Which overflows with Rapture; hark, cease
The loud mouth'd Cannon to express my Joy
Too big for other Utterance; while I drown
Each Care in Healths to Friends at Charlestown.
For your dear Sakes, I quit my Native Coast,
Spite of the wishing Pleasures it can boast:
And for your Sakes I've venture'd once again
Thro' Winds and Waves to plough the dang'rous Main;
Neptune with all his Terrors could not move
My constant Purpose from this Task of Love.
Happy! If you approve the bold Design
Of gaining your Regard by shewing mine;
Nor need I, from past Favours, fear Success;
I've found you generous, and I hope no less.
Ladies, for you I've ta'en the nicest Care;
To me 'tis Ecstasy to serve the Fair:
To please your Tastes and Judgments, I have brought
A Ship, from Europe and from India fraught
With all Varieties to suit the Day,
The Grave, all Season, either Church or Play.
Nor blame me, Gentlemen, if I pursue
The gallant Maxim which I learnt from you.
The Fair preferr'd, pray be so good to know
I've not forgot the Planter or the Beau:
You'll find Assortment of well-chosen Goods
Fit in the City, or the Pine Tree Woods;
At least I've done my best, and hope to find
Before we part you'll all be of my Mind.
Come ice for Love, or buy if you see need;
You're wellcome any Way to Your's

JAMES REID.

Have Mercy Criticks! For I am no Poet;
I've Goods to sell, and with you all should know it;
Nor think I court my Friends just for their Shilling
I'd serve them were I able as I'm willing;
And since I must my Wares and Sense expose,
Why mayn't I do't in Verse as well as Prose?

I'M no Poet or Critick, yet this I can tell
Truth's not always said when Goods are to sell.
Poets and Travellers rarely fail
To make the most of every Tale;
They'll tell you Wonders of your self,
Purely to catch a little Pelf—
The Quack, when mounted on the Stage,
Declares the Good he's done the Age,
And that his virtuous honest Mind
Is only bent to serve Mankind;
Tho' it's well known to every Boobys
To get more Cash is all his Study.

Just in our Skipper now arriv'd,
Who has so many Storms survir'd
With other's Goods a full fraight Ship
And paid for making every Trip,
Declares he comes here for your Sake,
Without the Thoughts of Peace to make;
Yet still there's something seems in view,
For that you're Generous he proves true.
If my Opinion is not wrong
He comes for better than a long.
His Pay and Items are not lost
While he makes Verses on our Cost;
In Selling Goods his Time's here paid
Tho' paid for being aboft the Mast;
He says no Taxes, Scott or Lott
He keeps no Horse, he hath no Poet.

So great Men have 'ere now come in this Mode
Who all declar'd they fought no private Good,
Yet in the End, it has prov'd to our Cost
They wanted Money, or a good fat Post.
I think your Captain has the same in view
If not, he's strangely drove'd from his Intt

ADIEU.

TO BE LETT the Tenement adjoining to that where Mrs. Brown lately liv'd in Queen-street.
